Baby Hughes was a good kid, he was very respectful and wanted to be part of a family. When he was younger he always seemed a little lost, when he was older and his mom had moved out of state after his father and sister had died he seemed really lost. He just wanted to go be near his mom. Sorry and sad he's gone he was one of my son's best friends and he has very few of them left. Drugs have taken most of them. At least now his hips won't hurt and he's free to be whatever he wants to be. Condolences to his family and friends.
